MENTOR'S BIO

I'm Neil Correa, a lifelong wellness adventurer. I truly believe that the world is a living being, and we are all a part of this beautiful organism. From hiking through the Himalayan Mountains to pulling all-nighters as a consultant to living the life of a grunt ("Dileas Gu Brath"), to silent meditation retreats or meeting with Neil Donald Walsh and Wim Hof, all of these experiences are how my Soul is living its best life. I am also certified in Holistic Health, Life and Wellness Coaching, Meditation, Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, Yoga, and Vegan Health. My goal is to build a wellness business that will eventually become my full-time focus.

The corporate hustle is the yin to the wellness yang. I live and breathe cybersecurity and privacy during the day, sharing how to keep corporations/individuals and their products/services, data and personal information safe. My career path started at Toronto Metropolitan University (Ryerson) in the co-op program and has led me through a number of different organizations and roles. My goal is to be a strategist at a cyber-security startup focused on increasing revenue through customer satisfaction and service offerings.
